On New Year's day, Mr. Isaac Smith presided over the meeting of the above, and in the Wesleyan Church there was good attendance, and the address was given by Mr. Alfred Ward, of Hunslet, who spoke on the good scheme of the contest, and exhorted all to put forth more determined efforts in the future for the accomplishment of that for which Christ came to earth: each to be enabled. In the musical department, Mr. Joe Oakley, of Ouslewell Green, kindly rendered two excellent violin solos, "Hilene sweet Home" and a selection by Fred. Miss Firth, of Carlisle, also accompanied.

THE PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL.

To the Editor of the Bethel Times.

Sir,

The decision of our School Board to advertise for land, on which to build increased school accommodation, near the railway, causes to me no great surprise. It has not apparently dawned upon the Board how the noise of the railway traffic—which will no doubt increase in direct proportion with the growth of the of the children and with the efficiency of the teachers. To me, it is probable that the Village, Red Bank and the other schools are better than such a site as proposed. Apart from that, the scheme leaves the question, as regards accommodation for Redbank High, practically as before. The school has to be a school on the fringe, and the sooner the school is built the better for the village. If the money for the school is raised in the village, it will probably be more expensive than 'now', for the town will probably look also at the serious risk of illness from the getting up of the students from the old school—especially the younger ones—from their way from the village to the school in the Redbank. The proposed site would be of no practical advantage, while there is no doubt that both for planning and for economy the school should be situated in the town, as in the case of the school in Carlton Lane, than unnecessarily split the village into two parts, and thus create a divided opinion.

It is not because the majority of the Board of Education are in favour of the proposed site that I am in favour of it. I am in favour of it because of the interests—both of which they are elected to represent.

THE CRUSADE OF PEACE.

A SUMMONS TO THE NATION

A PERSONAL APPEAL BY MR. W. T. STEAD.

The Emperor does not propose to interfere in any way with the full Sovereign Rights of England, or of any of the nations, but only says we are all to be equal, and that we are not to be a beggar-my-neighbour, which is going on at present, is one which must be kept up until there is a general peace, and that is the only way to make sure, is that all the Governments should meet and agree to make a general peace, and then whether the time has not come to stop, and to arrange, if possible, for some way of settling the quarrels with Germany without blood and slaughter. His proposal is so sensible, so reasonable, so just, that I think it is very probable that any national man or woman can object to it.

This is good news for everyone, and will tend to confirm the Emperor in his relations so much as the popular demonstrations are taking place throughout this country.

It is not generally known that Mr. Herbert Hoover is interested in a business way, with Sir Kitson and others, in a great petroleum field in the south of Russia, and he has very interesting letter to the secretary of the State, in which he says that he is quite sure British Government is most favourably disposed to the extension of British industrial enterprise into the Russian Empire, and that his own Government enables him to speak as to the courteous and friendly consideration with which the British Government has received the Russian Ambassador's demands paid by some of the English, and French companies in Russia.

OULTON v DODDSWORTH INSTITUTE.

These two teams met in showery weather at Oulton Green last Saturday, and before a poor attendance of spectators, in the first round of the West Yorkshire cup. Oulton won the toss and played against the Wind and slope. Dodsworth scored in the first minute; Hullah equalling a few minutes before half-time, at which the score was one goal each. Oulton had the advantage for the next minutes playing the second portion of the game owing to rain. Taylor, Hullah and Kaybold played splendidly. The match was by the way, entirely for Oulton. It was generally the desire of all organisers and players to stir this levantine city.

ASSOCIATION.

On the chair, delivered his conviction that "there is no movement which has been so successful in the past few years as the weather has been favourable the meeting probably has been the most striking demonstration of public opinion that has been seen in the history of the country. It is possible, that circumstance gives an influence to the magnificent demonstration from Effingham. Fifteen persons were present. Sir J. Blake occupied the chair, while the resolution was moved by Sir Joseph. These two gentlemen are strong political opponents, but the public opinion in Brighton is in favour of the latter. The meeting at the White camp, on the 21st inst., was a success. They are, however, in accord, and the movements movement has found no more supporters in Brighton. The meeting of the 22nd inst. at the pleasure of the public was not so typical of what is now occurring.

 no reason to suppose that the Church

A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT.

A promising young merchant recently presented his better half with a handsome piano lamp on her birthday anniversary.

He was much flattered when she told him she intended to give it his name, until he asked her reasons for so peculiar a proceeding. "Well," said she, "you know, dear, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is handsome to look at, requires a good deal of attention, is remarkably brilliant, is sometimes untidy on its legs, liable to explode when only half full, fares up occasionally, it is always out at bedtime, and is bound to choke."

AWKWARD MISTAKE—Here is a story which told Baron Downe, the celebrated Irish judge, once told in that exaggerated manner which he is so fond to employ—"I was down in Cork last month holding the assizes. On the first day, when the jury came in, I said to the clerk, 'Give me a list of the names of all the jurymen who were sworn in at that place, if you please.'—And may I never fail!" said the Baron, "if they didn't all walk into the dock."

THE DEAN SCORNS—Dean Hole was once travelling by a certain railway when a very respectable-looking man, of a comfortable appearance, came in and sat down next to him.

of mind entered the same carriage, bringing with him a very strong odor of whiskey.—After having bored Dean Hole for some time with his inebriate remarks, he roughly inquired, "What comes next to Itelin?"—"And," says Dean Hole, "when I answered 'Scratching,' the conversation flagged."

immortal Fox, when a youth, meeting a blind woman on Easter Monday, who was crying puddings and pies, took her by the hand, and said, "Come along with me, dame. TIME AND CHANCE.—When Mrs. Fox was in England the attended York race, where she met with the celebrated Laurence, Sterna. He asked her the side of the anchor, and accepted her." "Well, madam, which horse do you bet upon?" "Sir, said she, "if you can tell me which is the worst horse, I will bet upon that." "But why, madam," said Sterne, "do you make so strange a choice?" "Because," replied the lady, "you know the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong."—Sterne was much pleased with the reply, that he

LOUIS XIV. and THE ARCHBISHOP of PARIS.—When Moliere died, the Archbishop of Paris would not let his body be buried in consecrated ground. The king being informed of this, sent for the archbishop and expostulated with him on it, but finding the prelate inflexibly obstinately, his majesty asked how many feet deep the consecrated ground reached. The question coming by surprise, the archbishop replied, "About eight." "Well," answered the king, "I find there's no getting the better of your scruples; therefore let his grave be dug twelve feet deep—that's four below your consecrated ground—and let him be buried

LONDON SUBURBS.—Howel, in one of his characteristically gossiping passages on the increase in London's size, wrote as follows nearly three hundred years ago: "The suburbs of London are larger than the body of the city, which make some compare her to a Jesuit's hat, whose brims are far larger than the block: there."

which made Count Endomdar, the Spanish ambassador, to say, as the Queen of Spain was discouraging with him, upon his return to England, of the City of London, "Madam, I believe there will be no city left shortly, for all will run out of the gates to the suburbs."—What would the count say if he saw the London of to-day?

WHAT IRVING SAID.—A certain actor who wished to introduce in novations into Hamlet proposed to play the part of the Danish Prince in a red cloak, which intention he reported to Mr. Henry Irving, the great Shakespearian actor, who said:—"Very well, I do not see anything shocking in that."—"But is it right?" inquired his interlocutor.—"I dare say," replied Mr. Irving, "it is all right."

say it is," replied Mr. Irving. "Red was the colour of mourning of the Royal house of Denmark.—"But how do you get over this?" persisted the other, quoting the words,—"Tis not alone my inkly cloak, good mother."—"Well," replied the Shakespearean calmly, "I suppose there is such a thing as red ink, isn't there?"

NOTHING VENTURE NOTHING HAVE.—On one occasion when Madame Patti was touring in the North, the Hall at which she was to appear was crowded hours before the commencement of the concert. Just before the entertainment began, a workman with a hammer in his hand was seen at the back of the gallery, trying to get down to the front.

Thinking he was on business, the "gods" responded readily to his "By your leave," and after great trouble he worked his way to the front seat of the gallery. All eyes were upon him to see what he was going to do, when, amidst great laughter, applause, and grins, he calmly crushed into one of the seats and sat down, and all efforts to move him were

"I don't think," said the young friend, "it has died out altogether. I fancy I have seen beauty in this country fully equal to any you can find across the Channel; but that, Frank," he added, "is between you and me."

They say when a man goes to selling he can no longer be honest, at least in to horses, and yet "they say" may be taken. At least it occurred to me so, as riding along a pleasant road I met an horselack.

Dr. COOKE'S—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and an judicious application of the fine properties of well-selected COCOA, Mr. COOKE has provided for our breakfast a deliciously flavoured beverage which will save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the use of this delicate article of food that a constitution may be gradually built up, and strength enough to resist every tendency to disease. We may escape many a sharp shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with blood and a properly nourished frame. —Condensed Swiss Cocoa.—Made simply with boiling water or

COMING EVENTS REGISTER.

The proprietors of this journal propose opening a register at the above address, from which it will be able to record coming events in the district. The plan is as follows—As soon as a date for any event is decided upon, the fact should be notified to their office, when it will at once be entered in the Register Diary, and will appear in the next issue of the paper under its head, in the currentissima of this paper. For this registration, a fee of six pence will be charged; and such persons desirous of associating themselves with us are, and of making a return will have the privilege of insinuating their register free.

"CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR" SOCIETY.

The first anniversary of the Rothwell Branch of this Society, was celebrated with outdoor festivity and indoor meetings on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the proceedings taking place on the Primitive Methodist premises. On Saturday, contingents from 12 other branches came from Leeds, Wakefield, and newer places, and attended at three o'clock, when the Rev. D. C. Cooper, of Wakefield, read a paper on "Christian Endeavour." At five o'clock, the meeting

"CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR" SOCIETY.

The first anniversary of the Rothwell Branch of this Society, was celebrated with outdoor festivity and indoor meetings on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the proceedings taking place on the Primitive Methodist premises. On Saturdays, contingents from 12 other branches came in from Leeds, Wakefield, and neighbouring places, and at three o'clock, when the Rev. D. C. Cooper, of Wakefield, read a paper on "Christian Endeavour work." After tea a public meeting was held, presided over by Mr. A. Z. Lowe, and addressed by Rev. D. C. Cooper, J. Jopling, and J. A. Alderson.

On Sunday, suitable songs were well executed by the Rev. J. Jopling, and in the afternoon a service of song "Crucifixion of Philip Spenser," was read by Mr. McBurney, the musical pieces being read by the choir, under Mr. Harris, and Mr. Bramley (organist).

Hewitt, has got 1st class for model and freehand; J. W. Dalt 1st for model; Miss Lily Gill a 2nd in light and shade; Miss Gertrude Gill, 2nd in Freehand. Mr. F. E. Abishwak and Mr. Wilfred Denton 2nd.

Toole once engaged a man as a comedian for performance for the first three nights was a complete failure. On the fourth evening, a comedian appeared with a card to appoint him to the consideration. When the host made "applause" started he said to Toole "Don't it go, eh?" "Yes," "Yes," Toole said, "and do you at the end of the week!"

Paris reminds one of a story told of the Captain James Goodridge, one of the old commanders in the employ of the L. and S. Company. Crossing the Channel, a nervous lady said to him, "I suppose, captain, that you have crossed the Channel so often that you know all the rocks on the coast?" " " know all the rocks on the coast; but I know where the shells are."

As LAST SCENE: Drawing-room. The young man is asking his fiancée's father for the hand of his daughter, while the latter, in an adjacent room, anxiously awaits her lover's return. The father, who is a military officer, is impatient (exactly): "What did he say, George?"

I can see your face that he has treated me unkindly; but never mind, dear, we'll do our best to win him back to his content and do together."

Re-enter the young man, with a letter in his hand (reluctance): "He said 'Thank goodness'."

CLARET NOT UNBLESSED DEFERENCE.—SCENE CHANGES TO INDIAN CAMP.

GIVEN TO INDIAN. A Tommy was stationed as a corporal and soldier, ampires, when the British were in India, for the clear of the British. "How that?" asked the soldier. "Out!"

"the corporal." "Out!" cried Tommy. "Out?"

"—Why, let-before!" said the corporal.

the biometric pad!"

EVIDENTLY A BACHELOR.—A few weeks ago I was returning from India with my fifteen-year-old son, Bobby, and, like most of the run of youngsters, he was a little bit of a night, more so one night when I was crossing with the usual patter, such as "What's the moo-woo?" "What did the bow-wow say?" "Did you say yes?"

Sudden I heard a deep voice from a cabin next door shout out: "Why don't you tell the youngsters what the beastly animal I did say, and let me go to sleep?"

THE B. STOKES SCHOOL.—She was telling one of her sisters all about it, and this is what her father overheard: "And when the little girl sits side with me leans forward, the little boy on the other side of her catches hold of my hand and she says, 'What's the moo-woo?' and we yank her head back. Oh, it's fun!"

MISLEADING TERMS.—In a country district last week a man had been found drowned in a neighbouring canal and the jury had given a different verdict from the usual one upon such a case. It was not quite clear whether the man had committed suicide or had fallen in the water. After a great deal of useless argument the jury finally suggested that they should give a verdict of "suicide" (sic). The B. & F. local butcher, did not understand the meaning of this remark, and objected to what appeared to him to be a preposterous decision. He said: "I don't know what it means, but when he was found in the canal (by) Jim Stokes himself?"

AWKWARD.—A good story is told of length a guest approached and said: "What do you do, my lord?" My mother wishes to be remembered to you." "Ah," said the bishop, "that is very good of her. And he is the dear old soul?" Nothing like a good mother. Be sure and take care of your mother. Good-morning." The bishop did not know the least know his visitor was, and he said to his footman: "Who was that?" The servant replied: "The gentleman who brought your lordship's reception was the Duke of Connaught."

No man knows what it is to feel relieved. He has fallen from the very top of a church steeple and then wake up.

BOTHWELL PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHOIR TRIP.

On Wednesday last, the members of the Bothwell Primitive chapel choir and a number of friends, joined in the annual of trip, the place selected to be visited being Morecambe. Advantage was taken of a half-day excursion, and the holiday makers were conveyed to the station in waggons. A favourable start was made, but on Monday morning reached the weather was so stormy but favourable to the excursion. The open air. Many made for the underclothes of the train, but one good lot at any rate, preferred the market, where they were able to purchase, to pleasure in the winter "Gardens".

long-delayed, but a welcome shower fell above. Gardens under cover she no dreamed of. The time soon passed, and station held once again to be thought of. Where in the salmon country of the Kootenai party the trippers were soon comforted. The journey was enlivened with songs, choruses, and pleasant intercourse, the weather being so favorable. Rothwell being recalled all about midnight.

ROTHWELL, PRIMITIVE, CHAPLAIN

On Sunday night last, a large congregation assembled in the Rothwell Primitive Chapel to hear the farewell sermon of Mr. Arthur Taylor, a young local preacher, who has been an active worker amongst the Primitive Methodists of Rothwell, for a number of years, and who is now leaving them to fill an appointment at Graffham, as his

The plan, as has been remarked already, was approved at the first of the weekly Meetings of the Bethel Church officials, and was recommended to the work he is now taking up. Mr. Naylor was attentively listened to on the occasion of his farewell sermon, and many of the members of the working men's leagues, and will be followed in the sphere of usefulness by many hearty workers for his future success and advancement.

WOODSFORD WESLEYANS.

The Wesleyans at Woodsford have lately had their little chapel painted, cleaned, and thoroughly renovated. On Sunday, the opening services were held, when several sermons were preached morning and evening by J. MacDoo, of Sharnstone. In the afternoon a popular service was held, the chapel being crowded. An excellent address on the "Fruit of the Spirit" was delivered by Mr. Denbo.

and both acquitted themselves well; Mr. Oakley gave violin solos in his usual high class style and greatly pleased his hearers. The orchestra was composed of the same musicians were taken at all the services to defray the expenses of the renovation.

ROBIN HOOD P.S.A.

The usual service took place on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Alderman B. G. Baker presided, and also occupied the pulpit at the evening service. Miss Headley, a young lady from Lunenburg, rendered solo both in the afternoon and evening. The Rev. S. F. Waterhouse, of the Leeds South Church, paid his first visit to the Robin Hood P.S.A. and was warmly welcomed by the "Blunders and Blunderers," pointing out in a manly and forceful manner the great difference between blunder and sin. The society

NEW WESLEYAN SCHOOLS.
As will be seen from our advertising columns, the memorial stones of the five new Wesleyan Schools now being erected at Rothwell, Leeds, and other places, will be laid on Wednesday, October 26th. Efforts are being made to obtain presents of as many memorial stones as possible, and every one who could send £5 or £20 better than by helping forward a good work. Children subscribing £5 or £10 will be given a copy of the Bible and a copy of the hymn book. The stones will be cut, and it is hoped there will be a goodly number of such monuments.
The stones will be given to the schools, and small numbers, which will be enclosed in pretty purses or bags, and laid on the principal stones. Contributions, ladies and gentlemen, are also empowered to solicit subscriptions from everybody, and it is hoped they may meet with the support they deserve. The total cost of the five schools is £10,000, and the amount of the subscription is £10,000. The stones will be laid on the site of the old Roman Camp, near the junction of the Leeds and Thirsk Roads, near the village of Hunslet, Leeds.

the junction of the Leeds and Thirsk Roads, near the village of Hunslet, Leeds.

COMING EVENTS REGISTER.
The proprietors of this journal have now opened a register at their office under the above head in which to record coming events in the district. The plan is as follows:—As soon as a date for any event is decided upon, the fact should be notified to the Editor, who will be glad to accept it, and it will be inserted in the journal. The register is open to all, and it is hoped it will be of service to the community. The register

BOTHWELL PRIMITIVE A.B.C.

The meeting of the above on Sunday afternoon last, was addressed by Mr. Nichols, of Tadcaster, on "The Lost Found," he illustrated his subject with two pathetic tales. Mr. Eli Ward conducted the proceedings and there was a good attendance. Miss W. M. Marshall sang "Only a beam of Sunshine," and a new setting of "Lead, kindly light." Mr. A. Adamson was the organist. A vote of thanks was accorded to all who had taken part.

PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHRISTIAN

OUZLEWELL GREEN CHAPEL.

The little band of workers at this place have just been having their chapel painted and renovated, and by means of collections last Sunday and tea-meeting on Monday, have cleared off the whole of their indebtedness. The Rev. S. Arnold preached on Sunday, and was present at the meeting on Monday, along with Mr. Batty, Mr. Varley and Mr. John Hunt, chairman.

LECTURE AT CARLTON.

On Tuesday evening, the Rev. S. Arnold gave an interesting lecture on "The Wonders of Insect Life," illustrated by an excellent lime-light lantern. There was a good attendance, and collections were taken.

Under the auspices of the above, a public tea was provided in the Temperance hall, on Saturday last. The provisions were of excellent quality and there was a good number present, about 80 sitting down to the repast. In the evening a dance took place in the Central Hall of the Board School, and was well patronised. Messrs. Elliott and G. Hartley were the M.C.'s, and the music was supplied by Mr. S. Bedford. The proceeds were on behalf of the Band funds.

OLUTON ST. JOHN'S V.
YORKSHIRE COLLEGE.

This match was played at Oulton Green on Saturday last and it was pleasing, to note the attendance of spectators realised that no championship football is quite as interesting as a game to watch as a league fixture. The game was fast and decidedly enjoyable, and the players had no desire to make a hard task for Mr. Higgins, who acted as referee. W. Inman won the toss for the Owls and elected to play down the slope. The opening quarter was contested at a furious pace, and each defence were tested in turn to their utmost capacity when from a tussle in front of the College goal the ball came into the foot of W. rights and that player promptly placed it in the net, giving the visitors' custodian absolutely no chance to save. The Collegians returned the compliment very shortly, their clever combined work in the open nearly always leaving one of their number within shooting distance and their outside left equalised, although as appeal for off-side was disallowed on grounds we consider were correct. The homeers were quick to see that they were the weak among the forwards Muriland and Kerehwa as inside left and right respectively, showing any amount of resources in their play, but of which Watt was the more effective, Hutchinson being often beaten by the superior weight of the opposing backs. A well sustained attack resulted in Kerehwa transferring to Wright and the latter making considerable ground returned to his colleagues who quickly turned and screwed into the net, thus putting the Owins once again in front. Hartley was sent called upon to clear and then a long and heavy shot by the Coleridge inside right just as the goalkeeper was taking the Owins into the crease. The right wing in full viators apart very strong, though Mounsey at outside, whilst a clever, neutralised effectiveness by too many acrobatic tricks. The homeers again took up the running and Kerehwa had narrowly missed heading in, Wright cut amply possession and with a long low drive completed the invincible invincibility.

BOTHWELL V. OTWOOD

The usual knee-ender between the rival clubs took place at Rothwell on Saturday afternoon when the two sides met for the first time since the fair play era. It was seen that there were many new faces in the visitors' team, whilst Cromack and Parkinson were absent, and home side players were not up to their old form. The first scrimmage near the O. B. took line, and quickly scored a couple of minutes. Rothwell still holding the advantage gained, the game passed to the visitors, a player scoring a splendid try; Moran's place kick failing. Play now followed in neutral territory and becoming rather rough, the game was again passed to the visitors to injuries to B. Morel and Benawatu. Outwood at last became dangerous, but from a kick Rothwell cleared, the forwards were again in the hands of the visitors, gaining ground; some pretty passing was witnessed between Morgan and Fieldhouse. Outwood again got a footing in the home half, but was again cleared, and was being driven into touch near the halfway. From the subsequent play one of the Outwood new

Will the Secretaries of Football Clubs study former List of Returns, Reports of Matches (both first and second teams), and List of players chosen as early as possible.

Fieldhouse had an unsuccessful drop at goal. Rothwell maintained their advantage up to date of time, when they were declared victors by 8-6, 3 times (8 points), to Oulton "A". It is long time since Rothwell scored the Outwood team so easily as last Saturday, and if proper judgement had been used a tremendous score would have occurred. There is room for considerable improvement in the pack's organisation and strength being the weakest points.
